

Above — Williams College, at Williamstown, Mass., is set amid beautiful surroundings. Here is Griffin Hall, one of the oldest buildings.

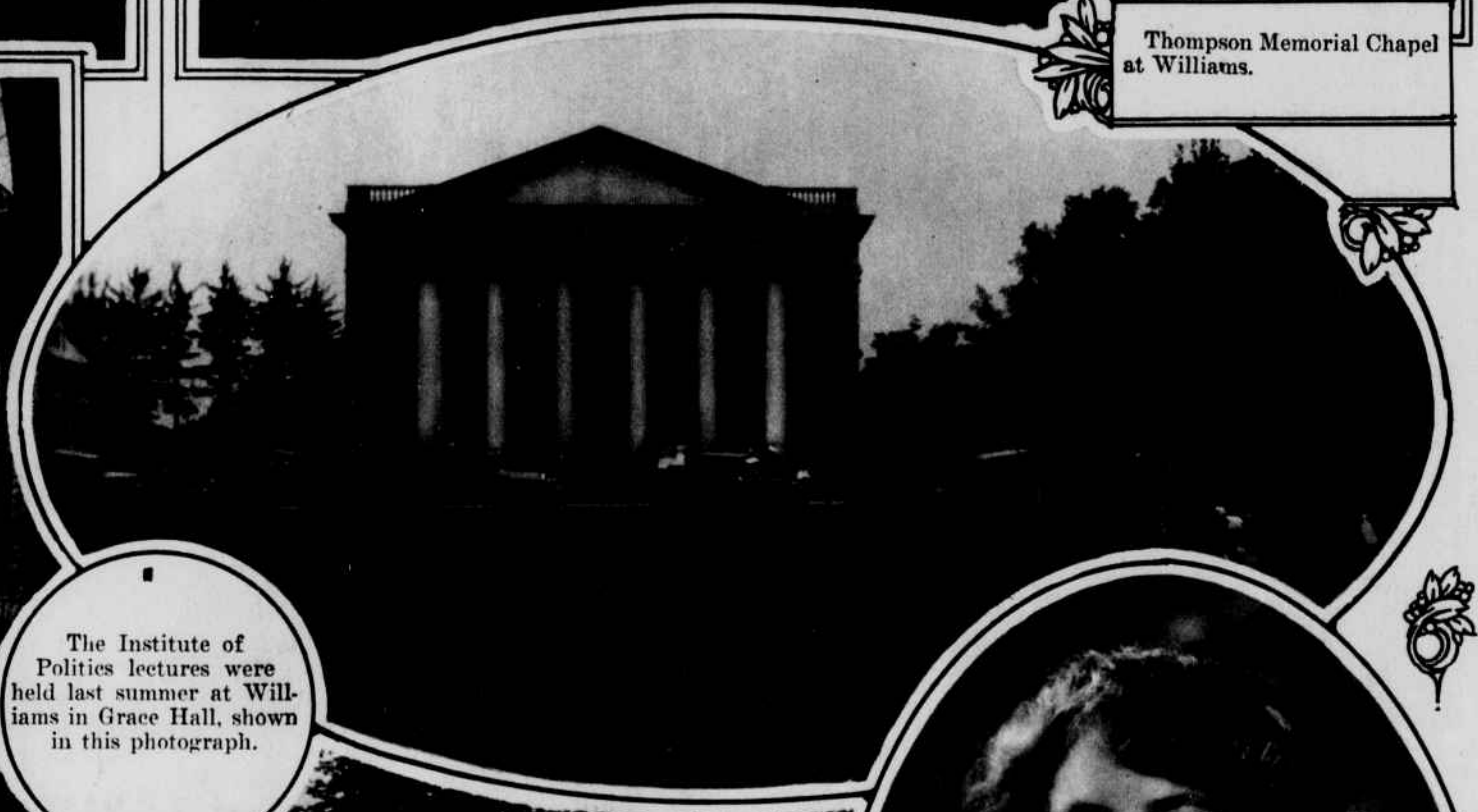

Thompson Memorial Chapel at Williams.

The Institute of Politics lectures were held last summer at Williams in Grace Hall, shown in this photograph.

At right—Lawrence Hall, the present library building of Williams College.

This is the president's house at Williams College, in a grove of fine old trees.

Miss Annie Mathews, Register-elect of Manhattan, who is preparing to take office with the start of the new year.
(c) Underwood & Underwood.

Portrait of Clare Sheridan, by Emil Fuchs, at the winter exhibition of the National Academy of Design.
Hagelstein Bros.

Guarded by four detectives, Mlle. Hermine Mondy wore $500,000 worth of jewels at French night at the Exposition of America's Making. The large pendant is the famous Hope ruby.

Vassar girls in a show of their own in aid of the college endowment fund. Left to right: Misses Laura Tichenor, Peggy Dixon, Elizabeth Townsend and Sylvia Brockway.